

Nisa-Nashim

Jewish Muslim Women's Network

Key Points on Nisa-Nashim

- About: Nisa-Nashim aims to create a national network which brings our communities together and promotes ways in which British Jewish and Muslim women can understand that their similarities are greater than their differences, through a range of shared initiatives that support their leadership journeys and encourage them to form meaningful personal relationships, while benefiting the wider society in which they live.
- Our key aims:
  - To bring our communities together through women
  - To foster leadership skills in women
  - To address some of the misconceptions in wider society about Jewish and Muslim women
- Nisa-Nashim Groups: Nisa-Nashim creates safe, inclusive groups of women to break down misconceptions, to empower each other and, above all else, to make friends. Our Nisa-Nashim groups are based on location and/or special interest and also deliver social action projects.

Current groups include:

Bushey	Edgware	Harrow
Leeds	Manchester	North London
North East England	Southgate	South West London
St Albans	West Midlands	Mums and
DaughtersJournalists	Teachers

- Conference: As well as developing grassroots groups, Nisa-Nashim is developing plans for a national conference which will take place in March 2017 and will connect women from across the country from both faiths. The aim is to discuss and engage with relevant topical issues such as antisemitism and islamophobia, network and learn from each other, and hear various high profile speakers on shared issues.
- Join in the NOISE: Support for Nisa-Nashim is growing rapidly. Search for us on Facebook, Twitter or visit our website.
